Presentation Authors Note

1. What changes did you make to the assignment? Why? (I'm looking for more than "because Jordan said so." Try to think about the assignment's audience and how revisions would help them.)

   I made several revisions to improve the clarity, flow and effectiveness of my presentation.

   a. I added a slide in the beginning that gave some background on Michigan Technological University as a company. It informs the audience of who the proposal if for while stating Michigan Techs goals as a university and business.

   b. I also change the title for the third slide from "The current Situation" to "The Problem". I thought this made the issue clearer and helped the presentation flow more logically to the proposed solution. This made the issue I was aiming at solving clear and followed the previous slide more appropriately.

   c. The in-slide citations were moved from the bottom left corner and integrated into the slide text itself. This makes it easier to see what information came from which source without needing to guess or look elsewhere.

   d. I also added legends to the two maps in my presentation. This makes clearer and more self-explanatory for viewers.

2. Were there any changes that you received feedback on and didn't incorporate? Why?

   I incorporated all the suggested feedback as I thought all the critiques were all valid worthy of addressing. I think I might have incorporated the statement of my intent an a somewhat different way than suggested. This stems from the way I separated the company introduction from the problem statement. I think this works better in my presentation due to the way I introduced the project over a span of three slides. I have the problem statement, a map and then a slide with the need and the benefits, making the company background less out of place.
